TO NEW LONDON ON STOLEN WHEEL

George Elmer Ralph Stone, 19, Says He Has Escaped From School for Evil Minded—Took Wheel From in Front of Main Street Drug Store-Caught When He Reached Neighboring City.

A bleycle taken from the street in front of the drug store of Utley & Jones on Main street about 4:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon and was back in this city by 10:15 in the evening and the young fellow who had ridden it away, George Elmer Ralph Stone of South Ashburnham, Mass., was in custody at police headquarters as a result of prompt work on the part of Chief George Linton in securing a clue to the perpetrator of the theft and following it up in the riht direction. The wheel is one that is used by the drug store for delivery purposes and when its loss was reported Chief Linton obtained a description of a young fellow who had been seen hanging around the neiphborhood of the store. It was also learned that a person answering the description had been seen on West Thames street riding a wheel towards New London and the poltes of that city were told to look out for him. They located him about 8 o'clock riding the wheel on Williams street and telephoned to Captain D. J. Two-mey after they had taken the young man into custody. Meanwhile Captain Twomey had dispatched Policeman Thomas Murphy to ride down on a Montville trolley car with the expectation that he might see the missing wheel along the way.

The officer kept on to New London and brought the wheel and stone back on the trolley arriving here at 10-15. Stone is 190. Rev. Theodor Bauck Going to First German Lutheran Church in Naugaand brought the wheel and stone back on the trolley arriving here at 10:15. Stone is 19.

While motoring in Pomfret, Monday afternoon, J. McPike, of Warren, R. L. Alerbo Smith and S. H. Thurston I. Alerbo Smith and S. H. Thurston of Barrington, the machine which they were riding in ran over the side of a bridge and down a ten foot embankment. The machine was badly wrecked, though it remained in an upright position and the occupants were unhurt.

The auto was owned by Albert Smith and was being operated at the time by McPike. The party left Warren early in the day for a pleasure trip and was traveling at a good rate of speed, it is claimed, at the time of the accident. As they approached the bridge it was said McPike started to slow down, but the car skidded on fallen leaves, causing the forward part of the machine to strike the rails on the side of the bridge.
